Contemporary Elegance Above the Santa Fe River Nature Preserve.

Perched above the Santa Fe River Nature Preserve, with breathtaking views of Picacho Peak, this brand-new, all-single-level 2025 contemporary residence is a masterful blend of architecture, nature, and modern comfort—just minutes from Canyon Road, The Teahouse, and downtown Santa Fe.

Designed for effortless living and entertaining, the main residence offers three bedrooms and two baths, an open-concept living space with soaring ceilings, wood flooring, a sleek gas fireplace with a built-in banco, and a wall of glass articulating doors that frame Picacho Peak and the surrounding foothills, inviting the outdoors in with seamless flow onto the southeast-facing, view-filled portal—perfect for entertaining or quiet moments of reflection. The open, well-designed chef's kitchen features Nocturne quartz countertops, soft-hued cabinetry, and stainless-steel appliances.

Set on over half an acre, the landscaped property features lush green grass framed by a graceful grove of native oak trees and is graced by the historic Acequia, its gentle spring-fed waters flowing near the primary suite. The spa-like primary bath offers a freestanding soaking tub and a separate walk-in shower, creating a serene retreat inspired by nature.

A TPO roof and two-car garage speak to both form and function, while mindful touches—fire suppression system, drip irrigation, and central air conditioning—ensure lasting peace of mind.

The detached one-bedroom, one-bath casita with a full kitchen provides the ideal retreat for guests, an art studio, an office, or a rental opportunity.

All a five-minute drive from Canyon Road and moments from the Dale Ball Trails, the Beaver Pond, and the Audubon, this location offers endless opportunities to connect with Santa Fe’s natural beauty and culture—an inspired sanctuary for those who live beautifully.
